The Annual Review of Graduate Student Progress

- FCIT's deanship of graduate studies requires all master's and doctoral students to submit an annual report of academic progress.
- The review is conducted by the graduate committee annually every fall semester.
- Your GPA will contact you with details about the annual review.
- You will receive a feedback and comment from the graduate committee.
- Failure to submit the form will result in:
 - A hold on your record preventing you from enrolling in classes.
 - Your GPA will not approve any future requests (extensions, proposal, defense, etc.)

Research Seminars

- Conducting research requires interaction and networking skills. You need to participate, interact, and collaborate.
- Students are required to attend at least 2 or 3 seminars (outside the course) in a semester.

Courses: Requirements, Grades, GPA (1/2)

- The maximum residency period for a master's degree must not be less than four semesters (2 years) and not more than eight semesters (four years).
- The maximum residency period for a PhD degree student must not be less than six semesters (three years) and not more than ten semesters (five years).
- In all programs of Graduate Studies, the minimum credit hours to study in the main semester is six credit hours for local students and nine credit hours for international students. 12 credit hours (excluding thesis) are the maximum to study in the main semester.

Courses: Requirements, Grades, GPA (2/2)

- For transfer graduate students, you must take at least 70% of the required CREDIT HOURS in the University awarding the degree.
- If the student is expected to graduate, then he can study 15 credit hours in the same semester but not more, provided his cumulative GPA is not less than 4.5
- A student cannot graduate until all the degree requirements are satisfied, with an overall grade of, at least, 'very good' (B).
- A minimum of "Very Good" (B) grade is required for all courses.
- A "Good" (C) grade is allowed for ONLY one course.
